LETTER FROM PROF. PROGTOR THAYER.
CLEVELAND MEDICAL COLLEGE, Jan. 18, 1806.
J. K. STEPLES.—Sin: I have read many of the 10,000 receipts contained in Machenile's Great Family Beceipt Book.—some with profit, some with pleasure, and some for tun. It is what it pretends to be, a book of valuable receipts, pertaining to the scenomy of life; well worth the money it costs, and should be owned by every family; for it will pay.

Respectfully yours, &c.

We have in our family a copy of Mackennie's
Great Family Receipt Book, a work which commends itself to all intelligent persons.
There is, perhaps, no book extant which is of more general use, and from which more information can be obtained. I find every subject trasted scientifically, fully, and reliably. The subject of Medicine is treated at length, and with great accurracy, by Prof. Hartaberne, especially that part relating to Cholera and its proper treatment.
There are hundreds of receipts in the book which

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 17, 1896.

Jones R. Struter-Dear Sir: I beg to testify my high appreciation of your popular work.—Mackengle's Great Family Receipt Book. I have it in my remily, and find it of such general use that recourse to its pages is almost of fally occurrence. It is truly a work of rare merit, which needs but to be seen to be appreciated; and which should be favery household. I have treated, successfully, a very severe case of Diptheria and ulcerated sore throat, by following the directions given in the work for treating such cases; also a bad case of Congestion with similar success.

Judging from the amount of the conference of the interest on late seven got at comercial por an aum. I would not spare my copy—providing another could not be procured—for any amount.

John E. Stevier, Esq.,—Dran Sin: I take pleasure in maying that I consider "Mackoncies Great Family Beceipt Book" as a work of standard value and incomparatic excilence. It is an Encyclopedia of useful information, on all the subjects comprehended in its right table of contents, and no family can well afford to do without it. More Encouragement

The Signal thought the election of Mr.
Sweeney (Dem.) for Mayor of Wheeling, by 515 majority, encouraging, as it was the first "voice of the people," or something of that kind, since the passage of the District of Columbia Suffrage Bill by the House. Here is another "voice of the people," from our own State. It is the really of the election for Justice of Peace in Hiram, Portage county:
